

SALES & NEGOTIATION

Stop Selling. Start Understanding.

Sales Begins & Ends with People

High level sales and negotiation are based on developing relationships. Because people are at the heart of relationships, sales men and women need to develop a keen awareness of themselves and the individuals with whom they interact.

Greater self-understanding allows salespeople to better leverage their natural sales style. Coupled with a greater understanding of others, salespeople are able to adjust their approach to better meet the needs of their audience.

Leverage your Natural Style

Since everyone is unique, the way in which salespeople achieve sales goals should be aligned with their own strengths and personalities.

Because people and personalities are complex, the behavioral traits exhibited during a sales call should be tailored to the natural strengths of the salesperson, as well as the people receiving the messages.

Birkman helps individuals better understand themselves and others in order to create a more effective and natural sales experience.

Tailor the Sales Process with Personality Data

Birkman reveals interest levels in Persuasion, Social Services, Incentives, and many other key metrics that affect one's sales motivation and style. Leveraging the unique ways salespeople are motivated and how they approach negotiation can serve as a great competitive advantage.

Individuals can use Birkman to assess every stage of the sales process, highlight their strengths, and give them the opportunity to properly address and overcome potential challenges.

By increasing their self-awareness, Birkman empowers sales people to leverage their own strengths and negotiate more powerfully.
